10/8/24

The leaf of p. 291-2 of the Year Book of 1924
has a large piece torn out, covering about 10
dozen names.

Could you cut this page from a mutilated
copy in your office & send it to me.

The binder should never have sent you this copy.

Dear Sir:-

We regret to learn from your post card of October eighth, that you have received a torn copy of the 1924 edition of the Institute Year Book. We are sending another copy under separate cover, and we trust that it will be received in good condition.

Thanking you for calling the matter to our attention,

Very truly yours,

Office Manager
